

TEA TIME

A cuppa has never been better than made with tea grown in the pristine environment of the Himalayas. Hampstead Tea introduces a range of multi-award winning single estate and herbal infusion teas grown at Makaibari, the world's first biodynamic tea estate. Home to a farming community of 1,700 people, Makaibari is turning out some of the finest organic tea there is, and the Hampstead Tea range features an extensive selection of black, oolong, green, white and herbal tea, available in either loose leaf or individual non-chlorinated tea sachets. And most importantly, Hampstead Tea is a certified fairtrade company, which means your money goes to the betterment of developing communities and their products are produced in-line with international standards for fair and socially responsible trade.
